

South Ulster Big Band

Directed by Peter Benson & Daniel O'Neill

The South Ulster Big Band was formed in 2005 making its debut performance at a recital in the Sean Hollywood Arts Centre, Newry. Since then the Big Band has delighted audiences at numerous concerts and Music Service events. This enthusiastic group of young musicians rehearses weekly in Newry Music Centre. The band, comprising trumpets, trombones, saxophones and a rhythm section, develops performance and improvisation skills through a repertoire of jazz classics and current popular music.